Georgia Southern students help restore oyster reefs in South Carolina

Eleven students assisted the South Carolina Department of Natural Resources in establishing a new oyster reef restoration site on Hutchinson Island at the Ashepoo River in early March.

During the project, the students transferred 350 bags, approximately 10,500 pounds, of recycled oyster shells from land to the shoreline to help form the new oyster reefs.

The oyster reef restoration site was the first by students from GS, but there are already plans to return next year to check on the reef's progress and to extend the current reef by adding even more bags of recycled shells. Full Story

Men's golf suffers uncharacteristic top 15 finish at The Hootie

In their final round from The Hootie at Bulls Bay on Tuesday, the Georgia Southern men's golf team was led by senior Jake Storey, who fired a team best round of the day, a 68, and helped land the Eagles into 14th place on the leaderboard. Full Story

The Willow Hill School: a brief history

In 1874, nine years after the end of the Civil War, a group of former slaves in Portal, Georgia established a school for their children. By 1999, the Willow Hill School was the longest-running school in Bulloch County. Full Story

Eagles fall at Georgia Tech as road woes continue

Georgia Southern traveled north to Atlanta to face the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets, where they fell by a score of 3-1, dropping their overall record to 12-12.

The Eagles never led in the game against Tech, falling into an early two-run deficit in the third inning, which would effectively be the winning runs of the game. Full Story
